With an abundance of outdoor activities, Alyeska is the perfect backdrop for weekend festivities. From family-friendly events such as the Blueberry Festival to an outdoor concert series at the Daylodge, visitors can combine adventures inspired by Mother Nature with a full calendar of events.

Summer

Blueberry Festival (mid-August) – A celebration of the lush blueberry season, this family-oriented outdoors event features over two dozen arts & crafts booths in The Hotel Alyeska Pond Courtyard, as well as live music and all the blueberry concoctions you can try. Blueberry picking and eating is encouraged; find your own secret stash.

Fungus Fair (Labor Day Weekend) – Just in time for prime mushroom picking season, Fungus Fair is a multi-faceted weekend of forays, naturalist presentations, outdoor concert, culminating with a Fabulous Fungus Formal featuring multi-courses showcasing local fungus treasures. The event benefits the Girdwood Trails Committee. (www.FungusFair.com)

North Face Climb-a-thon & Vertical Challenge (mid-September) – For a show of Alaskan prowess, the Climb-a-thon & Vertical Challenge is designed for the toughest of the tough. Set on the new North Face Trail (2.2 miles top to bottom with 2,000 vertical elevation gain), racers head up the trail and download on the Aerial Tram for nine hours. The winner is the one who logs the most laps in the given timeframe. This year, the winner finished 11 laps – which equals the same elevation gain as climbing Denali in a day!

Oktoberfest (late-September) – Autumn would not be the same without a festive atmosphere celebrating the many attributes of beer. The evening includes authentic German fare, souvenir mugs, polka band and all.

Winter

Solstice Jam (mid-December) – In honor of the astronomical event that marks mid-winter, Solstice Jam is a fun, family-friendly freeride event located at the base of the resort. Conditions permitting, the event has included a slopestyle course or rail jam in the past. Just in time for the holidays, Solstice Jam is the perfect reason to visit The Hotel Alyeska who will be dressed in her best holiday lights.

Winterfest (early February) – This family-friendly event celebrates the heart of winter and the most hours of daylight in all of North America. Weekend activities include various freeride comps and clinics, snowshoe tours, kid’s fun races and motorized sled rides.

Telepalooza & Alyeska World Comp (late March) – The steep faces of Mt. Alyeska have proven to be a racer’s inspiration, and nemesis. Expert competitors have always been drawn to the challenging terrain at Alyeska, and telemark skiers convene for Telepalooza, a celebration of Nordic traditions and the free-heel discipline. New this winter, Alyeska will host a multi-discipline big mountain comp at the same time. (www.Telepalooza.com)

Spring Carnival (late April) – With one of the longest ski seasons in North America, Alyeska Resort embraces spring in typical Alaskan fashion. The Spring Carnival takes advantage of the long days with extended hours of lift operations, great spring-skiing conditions, and Alyeska’s largest and most popular winter event, Slush Cup, where competitors dressed in zany costumes attempt to skim across a 90-foot long pool of freezing water. Other activities include a team tug-of-war, kid’s fun races and pizza party, freeride comps, and live music.
